

Great success for the Italian lessons on Second Life!

It is started today the adventure of the Italian courses on Second Life: a new, funny and useful way of learning Italian by enjoying the peacefulness of your home, but while being really present and active in a virtual way in a multimedia classroom.

It is an experiment organized by Sigmasei with the collaboration of Scuola Leonardo da Vinci (the most important Italian language school for foreigners in Italy) which has got under way with great success on Second Life, on the official isle of Tuscany on the occasion of the "Festival della Creativiti", an important event started today at the Fortezza da Basso in Florence.

Teachers learn Italian in a dynamic and interactive way, thanks to proofed learning methods used in the school since more than 30 years in real life. They are pleasing, and participants are flighty.

Today, lots of people were attending the lesson and many of them were foreigners unskilled in Italian language.

This has been an interesting and useful lesson, especially for those participants who got in touch for the first time with knowledge of the Italian language.

If you want to know more, read the content of the 1st lesson and give a look to some pictures from our Italian Classes

Come you too, to visit us on the isle of Tuscany! The second lesson will be tomorrow (Friday, October 26th) from 12:00 a.m. to 1:30 p.m.

It is so easy to attend the course!!! You just have to login Second Life and join our group ("I love Italian language").

Come and join us!!! We are waiting for you!
